2. POLICY PURPOSE

The organisations are committed to creating opportunities for adults at risk and adults who have additional vulnerabilities to participate in a broad spectrum of activities at the organisations at the same time as creating a safer culture for the participants. The participation of adults may be as players, coaches, employees, volunteers, officials, administrators, visitors or spectators.

The organisations have a moral, legal and social responsibility to provide a fun and safe environment for all those participating in these activities. The organisations have also made a commitment to manage and monitor allegations of discrimination, harassment, abuse and bullying.

The Safeguarding Adults at Risk Policy is there to react to the occasions where proactive and preventative work has failed and where harm has occurred by acts of commission or omission and where the adult at risk has not been able to safeguard his or herself.

In particular its function is to ensure that safeguards are put in place to keep adults at risk, safe and to prevent such harm occurring again, either to the same adult at risk, or to other adults at risk.

Middlesbrough Football Club and Middlesbrough FC Foundation are committed to being inclusive and providing a safe and positive experience for everyone involved in their activities.

Whilst it is hoped that the proactive preventative work, including training, vetting and providing clear policies are sufficient to safeguard all adults at Middlesbrough Football Club and Middlesbrough FC Foundation, the organisations recognise that they have a responsibility to safeguard adults at risk from abuse and harm and to respond where abuse and harm are perceived to have occurred.

The responsibility taken by this policy is to:

- Safeguard the welfare of Adults at Risk at the organisations by protecting them from any significant physical, sexual and emotional harm, and also from neglect, bullying and financial harm within the organisations. This may include training and codes of conduct amongst other strategies for reducing risk.
- Ensure that reports are made to the appropriate authorities about any concerns about abuse or harm to Adults at Risk, whether this occurs within the organisations or elsewhere, whether this be a potential criminal offence or other concern. The appropriate authorities may be internal and external to football. This will include following the organisations' reporting frameworks.
- Ensure appropriate investigations and responses to concerns about abuse or harm within the organisations, utilising the disciplinary process as appropriate. This will include work in partnership with the Police and other statutory agencies charged with investigating and responding with the adult who is believed to be at risk or believed to have been harmed.
- Following such investigations, act to put appropriate safeguards in place to safeguard the Adult at Risk in the future and to reduce the risk of harm to other Adults at Risk in the organisations.

The organisations have the power as part of their Disciplinary Procedures to issue a suspension, pending a risk assessment where any one or more of the following applies:

- The individual fails to comply with any part of the organisation's DBS Processes.
- The individual has been convicted of or has been given a caution for, a sexual or violent offence or any other offence that the organisations believe to be relevant to the care of Adults at Risk.

- Following a risk assessment, the organisations are satisfied on the balance of probabilities that the individual poses or may pose a risk of harm to Adults at Risk.

3. RELATIONSHIP TO THE ORGANISATIONS SAFEGUARDING POLICY

This policy is in addition to our main Safeguarding Policy in order to give extra information about Safeguarding of Adults at Risk.

For further information please refer back to main Safeguarding Policy.

4. POLICY SCOPE

This policy applies to all activities run or managed by either Organisation whether they are undertaken within the Stadiums, Training Ground, Academy, Foundation facilities or at any external venues.

5. DEFINITIONS

Adult at Risk

A person aged 18 or over, who has needs for care and support (whether or not the local authority is meeting any of those needs) and

- is experiencing, or at risk of, abuse or neglect and
- as a result of those care and support needs is unable to protect themselves from either the risk of, or the experience of abuse or neglect.

This may include people with learning disabilities, sensory impairments, mental health needs, older people and people with a physical disability or impairment. It may also include people who are affected by the circumstances that they are living in, for example experiencing domestic violence. This list is not exhaustive.

An individual's level of vulnerability to harm may vary over time depending on the circumstances they are in and their needs at that time.

Organisational Personnel

Any member of the workforce for either Middlesbrough Football Club or Middlesbrough FC Foundation, in a paid or unpaid capacity including volunteers.

6. KEY PRINCIPLES OF ADULT SAFEGUARDING

The definition of 'Safeguarding Adult's at Risk is always open to interpretation and individuals may be vulnerable at some times and not others. Even if an adult does not meet the legal definition of an Adult at Risk they may have or present with additional vulnerabilities.

Safeguarding adults can be complex. Adults have a right to self-determination and may choose not to act to protect themselves. They also may not wish to have others intervene to safeguard them. There can also be challenges for example, adults may consent to sexual activities and the issue of consent may affect the reporting and management of allegations. It is also important to remember that Local Authorities are organised differently to receive and manage referrals for Adults at Risk. There is not a uniform approach by the various Local Safeguarding Boards.

Safeguarding adults effectively, means creating a culture that informs the adult and consults them on all decisions affecting them and works in partnership with them. As a principle, safeguarding concerns should be discussed with the adult to establish their views and involve them in the safeguarding process. Occasionally however this may not be possible or safe. If in doubt seek advice from the CHOS or appropriate DSO.

When safeguarding adults, the six principles of the Care Act 2014 apply. The principles work together to ensure safeguarding is made personal.

The six principles are:

- Empowerment: People being supported and encouraged to make their own decisions and informed consent.
- Prevention: It is better to take action before harm occurs.
- Proportionality: The least intrusive response appropriate to the risk presented.
- Protection: Support and representation for those in greatest need.
- Partnership: Local solution through services working with their communities.
- Accountability: Accountability and transparency in delivering safeguarding.

7. ABUSE

7.1. DEFINITION OF ABUSE

Abuse includes any form of physical, emotional, or sexual mistreatment or lack of care that leads to injury or harm.

Abuse and neglect are generic terms encompassing all ill-treatment of Adults at Risk as well as cases where the standard of care does not adequately support the person's health or needs.

Adults at Risk may be abused or suffer neglect through the infliction of harm, or through the failure to act to prevent harm. Abuse can occur in a family or an institutional or community setting. The perpetrator may or may not be known to the person.

Abuse can happen to an Adult at Risk regardless of their age, gender, race or ability. Abusers can be adult male or females.

Abuse or harm could occur as part of the organisations' activities, or it could be reported to a member of organisational personnel (or indicative signs noticed) when it has occurred elsewhere.

There may be are complex scenarios including:

- Adults at Risk playing, officiating, coaching, spectating or administering within a variety of activities at the organisations, they may be at risk of harm from other adults, who may or may not be at risk themselves. Those doing harm to adults at risk, may be in the organisations' activity or elsewhere in the Adult's at Risk network. Harm may be deliberate or result from not understanding the Adult at Risk's needs (commission or omission).

- Adults at Risk may be at risk of harming others in the organisations' activities either by deliberate behaviours or by failing to understand their responsibilities to others. On these occasions the Adults at Risk may need help and support to manage his or her behaviour in a suitable way or may need to have certain responsibilities removed from them. Safeguards may need to be put in place to protect others.
- Adults who have been 'at risk' in the past who are now 'not at risk', (example: people recovering from mental health issues). Where these adults are seeking positions of responsibility at the organisations but have criminal records or issues from their past which are directly related to these periods of vulnerability, detailed risk assessments will be undertaken. Assessment of suitability for their new roles requires a specific knowledge base and sensitive handling. Whilst we promote a policy of inclusion, the risk assessments are conducted to measure the risk posed by somebody who is recovering from a previous period of vulnerability, considering other vulnerable adults and children who need safeguarding from possible harm, should the risk factors re-emerge.
- Adults at risk may also be at risk of harming themselves through failing to realise and report when they need additional or different support in the organisations activities.

7.2. CATEGORIES OF ABUSE

In Adult Safeguarding there are ten main categories of abuse as set out below:

- Physical (including hitting, slapping, pushing, kicking, misuse of medications, restraint, or inappropriate sanctions)
- Psychological (including emotional abuse, threats of harm or abandonment, deprivation of contact, humiliation, blaming, controlling, verbal abuse, isolation or withdrawal from supportive networks)
- Sexual (including rape and sexual assault or sexual acts to which the person has not, or could not consent and/or was pressured into consenting)
- Financial (including theft, fraud, exploitation - wills, property, inheritance, possessions or benefits)
- Organisational
- Neglect (including ignoring medical and/or physical care needs, failure to provide access to health, social care or educational services, withholding necessities of life, e.g., medication, adequate nutrition and heating)
- Self-Neglect
- Discriminatory (based on a protected characteristic)
- Modern Slavery
- Domestic Abuse

Sometimes there will be obvious signs and symptoms of abuse, but in most circumstances the indicators may be very difficult to detect. Combinations of factors which individually might not give cause for concern could be much more worrying when considered together. The abuse may be committed by one individual against another or be institutional in that the whole organisation colludes in abusive practices either through ignorance or choice. Should you have any concern that abuse is occurring you should contact the CHOS or appropriate DSO immediately as well as recording the concern on the Tootoot Case Management System.

For more information relating to types of abuse please refer to our Safeguarding Policy.

7.4 ALLEGATIONS OF NON-RECENT ABUSE

Allegations of harm or abuse may be made some time after the event, e.g., by an adult who was abused as a child or by a member of Organisation Personnel who is still currently working with Vulnerable Persons. Where such an allegation is made, the Organisation will follow the procedures as detailed in this Policy and report the matter directly to the Police or Social Services.

Non-recent abuse is the term used to refer to disclosures of abuse that were perpetrated in the past. It can also be about a disclosure of neglect, physical, sexual, or emotional abuse from someone who is now 18 years or over, relating to an incident that took place when the alleged victim was under 18 years old.

Allegations of abuse can be received by anyone and can be made against relatives, friends, carers, people in the public eye or in a position of trust, or any other person who currently has or previously had contact with Vulnerable Persons.

All concerns or disclosure relating to non-recent abuse must be reported.

8. CAPACITY

It is not for organisational personnel to make a decision about whether an Adult at Risk lacks Capacity, but it is useful for all to have an understanding of the notion of capacity.

8.1 DEFINING AND ASSESSING CAPACITY

A person's capacity must be assessed specifically in terms of their capacity to make a particular decision at the time it needs to be made. Anyone assessing someone's capacity to make a decision for themselves should use the two-stage test of capacity:

- Does the person have an impairment of the mind or brain, or is there some sort of disturbance affecting the way their mind or brain works? (It doesn't matter whether the impairment/disturbance is temporary or permanent)
- If so, does that impairment or disturbance mean that the person is unable to make the decision in question at the time it needs to be made?

Assessing ability to make a decision:

- Does the person have a general understanding of what decision they need to make and why they need to make it?
- Does the person have a general understanding of the likely consequences of making, or not making, this decision?
- Is the person able to understand, retain, use and weigh up the information relevant to this decision?
- Can the person communicate their decision (by talking, using sign language or any other means)? Would the services of a professional (such as a speech and language therapist) be helpful?

In most instances a doctor or other professional expert will assess an Adult at Risk's capacity. Where background information such as this is available for Adults at Risk in our care, for example from a partner agency, the information should be stored confidentially.

In most localities an Independent Mental Health Capacity Advocate (IMCA) is appointed to assist a person who is judged to lack capacity.

8.2 STATUTORY PRINCIPLES

The Mental Capacity Act 2005 sets out five statutory principles:

- A person must be assumed to have capacity unless it is established that they lack capacity.
- A person is not to be treated as unable to make a decision unless all practical steps to help them to do so have been taken without success.
- A person is not being treated as unable to make a decision merely because they make an unwise decision.
- An action taken or decision made, for or on behalf of a person who lacks capacity must be done, or made, in their best interests.
- Before the action is taken, or the decision is made, regard must be had to whether the purpose for which it is needed can be as effectively achieved in a way that is less restrictive of the person's rights and freedoms.

9. SUPPORTING AND RESPONDING TO CONCERNS AND DISCLOSURES

Should you have any concern that abuse is occurring you should contact the CHOS or appropriate DSO immediately as well as recording the concern on the Tootoot Case Management System.

The coordinator of each activity involving Adults at Risk at the organisations, will ensure that the participants know how to get help, how they can report abuse, who to report it to and what response they can expect.

Some people who have been abused are able to speak to someone about it and wish action to be taken. Others are very reluctant to talk about the experience. There may be several reasons for this, for example:

- It may just be too painful emotionally, to talk about what happened. Feelings of shame and embarrassment often inhibit people reporting concerns.
- There may not be an opportunity to see someone who is trusted, privately.
- There may be anxiety about repercussions from the perpetrator or others if the abuse is reported. #
- There may be a worry about “where it will all end”, for example if the police are told, or perhaps a fear of going to court.
- The abused person may just be prepared to put up with it.
- Communication and language may be an inhibitor.
- The person may not recognise an experience to be abusive if their previous life experiences have been confusing.

People with poor mental health and mental ill health are often under-represented in safeguarding referrals. In addition to the concerns listed above, inhibitors could include:

- Not being believed.
- Effects of stigma.
- Powerlessness, lack of choice, power differences.
- Fear of a continuing oppressive regime.
- The perceived victim could have confused feelings towards the abuser.

If abuse is suspected, it is very important to try and create the opportunity for the person to disclose what is happening. It is crucial to give adults confidence to know that they will be listened to. In some situations, the worst thing to do might be to keep asking if everything is alright. In others, a few encouraging prompts might be just what the person was waiting for. The following might help to create the right atmosphere:

- Identifying a named person responsible for safeguarding for activity or event, who is a familiar face to the adult(s). This measure is intended to be empowering.

Where abuse is suspected, identify the member organisation personnel the person appears to trust the most and create an opportunity for the person to share their concern with this person.

Where there is factual evidence available, it may be useful to let the person know it has been observed so that the person does not feel they are telling about something that is a complete surprise.

As the person might be worried about losing control of the situation if they tell, it might be helpful to give assurances that after disclosing abuse, the person is always asked what they wish to do about it. Respect will be given to their wishes, but there are various circumstances where it will be necessary to report a concern against a person’s wishes, particularly when others would be left at risk. Do not guarantee that you will keep to yourself, what they want to tell you.

Key points to remember about disclosure

- Many incidents of abuse or crimes only come to light because the abused person themselves tells someone.

- Organisational Personnel must be aware that the person may not appreciate the significance of what they are sharing. They may not realise or accept they are being abused.
- Disclosure may take place many years after the actual event or when the person has left the setting in which they were afraid.
- Even if there is a delay between the actual event and the disclosure, Organisational Personnel should demonstrate to the person that they are taking what the person is saying seriously, unless it is clear and provable that the events they are describing could not have happened.

If someone discloses abuse to a member of Organisational Personnel, they must:

- Stay calm and try not to show shock.
- Listen carefully rather than question directly.
- Be empathetic and offer reassurance.
- Be aware of the possibility that medical evidence might be needed.

Organisation Personnel should tell the person that:

- They did right to tell.
- The information is being taken seriously.
- It was not their fault.

Members of Organisational Personnel must make sure they write everything down as soon as possible including any observations made before, during or after a disclosure. This will then need to be reported to the CHOS or appropriate DSO immediately as well as recording the concern on the Tootoot Case Management System.

Information to be included when recording a disclosure or allegation

- Name, date of birth, address of the alleged victim
- Name, date of birth, address of the alleged perpetrator
- Who you are and how you are involved.
- What happened where and when (including any lead-up)
- Note the time of day, date, and location of the incident.
- Describe how the disclosure came about.
- Describe what happened and any injuries or consequences for the victim.
- Where appropriate, use a body map to indicate where there are cuts or bruises.
- Any action taken.
- The current position including any concerns about safety of the alleged victim and any other person.
- Who else is involved?
- How aware of the referral is the victim, perpetrator, carers, or relatives.
- Any known views of the alleged victim regarding how they wish the matter to be dealt with any other background information that is likely to be helpful.
- Keep the information as concise and factual as possible.
- Date of the report

Establishing the victim's wishes

It is very important that members of Organisational Personnel do not investigate concerns themselves. The following guidance should be adhered to.

- Where there is no immediate danger or emergency, there is an opportunity discuss the adult's wishes in relation to the concern raised.
- There is a need to establish who the victim would most like to talk to about the matter.
- Liaise with the CHOS and/or appropriate DSO.
- If the adult wishes to speak to a member of Organisational Personnel, they must familiarise themselves with all possible options, and prior to the speaking to the person and seek advice as to the possible consequences of each option for the victim.
- It is important to remember that speaking to the adult is only to establish what the victim wishes to do about the incident, not about the incident itself.
- Important to allow the adult time to consider the options and if uncertainty, offer to meet again.

Evidence Preservation

Organisational Personnel should ensure their first concern is for the safety and welfare of the adult involved. Efforts to preserve evidence however may also be vital. In all cases but where police involvement is required preservation of evidence is crucial if the police investigation is to be effective. What Organisational Personnel do or do not do in the time whilst waiting for the police may make all the difference. The following checklist aims to help you to ensure that vital evidence is not destroyed.

In the case of a person who has been physically abused, who wishes to show a member of Organisational Personnel an injury, they must only observe what they consent to show and what is appropriate. They must not touch what does not have to be touched. Wherever possible things should be left as they are. Organisational Personnel should not clean up, not wash anything or in any way remove fibres, blood etc. If they do have to handle anything at the scene keep this to a minimum.

Do not touch any weapons unless they are handed directly to you. If this happens, keep handling to a minimum. Place the items/weapons in a clean dry place until the police collect them.

Preserve anything that was used to comfort the abused person, for example a blanket.

Secure the room. Do not allow anyone to enter unless strictly necessary to support you or the abused person and/or the alleged perpetrator, until the police arrive. The Police may organise a medical examination urgently.

Prior to the arrival of the police and medical examination:

- Ensure that no one has physical contact with both the abused person and the alleged perpetrator as cross-contamination can destroy evidence. It is acknowledged that if Organisational Personnel are working alone in the situation, they may have to support both the abused person and the alleged perpetrator e.g., where the alleged perpetrator is also a Middlesbrough Football Club or MFC Foundation service-user. You need to be aware that cross-contamination can easily occur.
- Preserve any bloodied items.
- Encourage victim not to shower.
- Encourage victim not to change clothing.
- Even when the victim says they do not want police involvement, preserve items anyway as they may change their mind later.
- Encourage the person not to eat or drink if there is a possibility that evidence may be obtained from the mouth.

Methods of Preservation

- For most things use clean brown paper, if available, or a clean brown paper bag or a clean envelope. If an envelope is used, Organisational Personnel must not lick it to seal. Avoid using plastic bags as they can produce moisture.
- For liquids use clean glassware
- Organisational Personnel should not handle items unless necessary to move and make safe. If there are latex gloves available, they should be used.

It is acknowledged that completion of all of the above tasks may not be possible in a traumatic situation. Organisational Personnel are urged to use best endeavours and do what is practicably possible given the situation.

The role of Organisational Personnel in supporting the alleged victim includes the following:

- Ensuring the continued safety of and support to the person
- Liaising with other member of Organisational Personnel who have been involved to gather all the available information together.
- Ensuring that evidence has been preserved.
- Completing all reporting and recording relating to the incident
- Reporting the matter to the CHOS and/or appropriate DSO.

IT IS NOT THE ROLE OF THE MEMBER OF ORGANISATIONAL PERSONNEL SUPPORTING THE VICTIM TO COMMENCE AN INVESTIGATION INTO THE INCIDENT

When an incident or disclosure of this nature is made the CHOS with the support of appropriate DSO's will directly manage and support the members of Organisational Personnel involved in the situation. They will ensure that:

- action taken is effective in providing immediate and ongoing protection to the Adult at Risk.
- practical and emotional support is available according to need.
- where an allegation is made against a member of Organisational Personnel, they liaise with the HR team to invoke the Suspension procedures.
- the HR team take responsibility for ensuring that the appropriate support is offered to the person who is suspended.

13.2 LEGISLATION, POLICIES AND GUIDANCE

Please refer to the following documents for further guidance and support:

The Care Act: Safeguarding Adults at Risk 2014

The Care Act 2014 sets out a clear legal framework for how local authorities and other parts of the system should protect adults at risk of abuse or neglect. Local Authorities have a duty to:

Lead a Multi-Agency Local Adult Safeguarding System that seeks to prevent abuse and neglect and stop it quickly when it happens.

Make enquiries, or request others to make them, when they think an adult with care and support needs may be at risk of abuse or neglect and they need to find out what action may be needed.

Establish Safeguarding Adults Boards, including the local authority, NHS and police, which will develop, share and implement a joint safeguarding strategy.

Carry out Safeguarding Adults Reviews, when someone with care and support needs dies as a result of neglect or abuse and there is a concern that the local authority or its partners could have done more to protect them.

Arrange for an independent advocate to represent and support a person who is the subject of a safeguarding enquiry or review, if required.

Any relevant person or organisation must provide information to the Safeguarding Adults Boards as requested.

Human Right Act 1998

Act outlining the European Convention of Human Rights in English law. This Act is designed to protect individuals from abuse by state institutions and people working for these institutions.

Speaking up for Justice 1998

This is a report from Interdepartmental Working Group on the treatment of Vulnerable or Intimidated Witnesses in the Criminal Justice System. The aim of the Working Group was to improve access to justice for vulnerable or intimidated witnesses, including children. It made a total of 78 recommendations (that were accepted) for improvements to the criminal justice system including the reporting of crime, identification of vulnerable or intimidated witnesses, and measures to assist witnesses before, during and after the trial.

Youth and Criminal Evidence Act 1999

The recommendations from 'Speaking up for Justice 1998', that required legislative changes were incorporated into this.

Achieving Best Evidence in Criminal Proceedings 2002

This document 'Achieving Best Evidence in Criminal Proceedings' offers guidance for vulnerable or intimidated witnesses, including children. It replaces the previous 'Memorandum of Good Practice' that only referred to children. There are two volumes covering the planning and conducting of interviews, witness preparation and support and witnesses in court.

Care Standards Act 2000

This Act created the National Care Standards Commission, an independent, non-governmental public body, to regulate social and health care services previously regulated by local councils and health authorities. It also extended the scope of regulation to other services not previously registered, to include domiciliary care agencies, fostering agencies and residential family centres.

No Secrets 2000

This is guidance on developing and implementing multi-agency policies and procedures to protect vulnerable adults from abuse. No Secrets gives guidance to local agencies who have a responsibility to investigate and take action when a vulnerable adult is believed to be suffering abuse. It offers a structure and content for the development of local inter-agency policies, procedures and joint protocols which will draw on good practice locally and nationally.

Sexual Offences Act 2003

This Act introduced a number of new offences concerning vulnerable adults and children.

Protection of Vulnerable Adults List 2004

Implemented in July 2004, employers can now apply to place employees on the list that they deem to be unsuitable to work with vulnerable adults. There does not have to have been a criminal prosecution. The person has a right of appeal. It is a criminal offence to apply for a job working with vulnerable adults while on the list.

Mental Capacity Act 2005

The general principle of this Act is that everybody has capacity unless it is proved otherwise, that they should be supported to make their own decisions, that anything done for or on behalf of people without capacity must be in their best interests and there should be least restrictive intervention.

Mental Capacity Act 2005 Guidance

A list of key resources for councils and their partners on implementing the Mental Capacity Act including the Deprivation of Liberty Safeguards.
